The new Department Commander, Colonel Alber D. Shaw, of Watertown, has adopted the innovaion of unfurling in colors the Star Spangled Ban ner under which the Boys in Blue fought over his general orders issued from his headquarters. It is an inspiring sight, and will be looked upon by most comrades as a good omen for the success of Comrade Shaw's administration. In General Orders No. 3 the Department Commander seeks to im-press upon the comrades of New-York the necessity for a large attendance at the National Encampment at Buffalo, August 23 to 28, for it will be the last great meeting of the surviving comrades of the war in our State. He says: "The physical attractions of Buffalo and its environments are unsurpassed. The heautiful city itself, the gem of the Great Lakes, and the queen inland city of the Union, will be in its most charming dress, and the attractions of Niagara Falls, with its wonders of electric energy, and the glories of nature's greatest cataract, combine to render this encampment unique in its delightful features. It will be the crowning pageantry of the old veterans of the great war days, and it is earnestly hoped that all posts in the State will make a great effort to be as fully represented as possible. New-York was the foremost State in the Union in supplying men and money in the National hour of need, and it must be shown that the spirit of 1861-'65 still lives in the hearts of her surviving veteran sons, who should turn out in full ranks to make the Buffalo encampment brilliant as the war-worn defenders of the Republic march in review before the President of the Nation. The comrades and patriotic citizens of Buffalo have displayed unsurpassed interest in this coming historic encampment, and their early and remarkable organization in perfecting all details is proof of how deeply they feel the honor of the visit of the surviving veterans of the Union from many States. Their preparations for the comfort, hospitality and enjoyment of these honored saviors of the Nation are full and genthe comfort, hospitality and enjoyment of these honored saviors of the Nation are full and generous. It is recommended that regimental reunions he arranged for at the National Encampment and announced at the earliest convenient date, in order that veterans living in different States may be informed where and when to meet their old comrades. A special order announcing these reunions will be promulgated from these headquarters on or about August 1, and the data concerning the same should be forwarded to Assistant Adjutant-General G. H. Lester, Capitol, Albany, as soon as the necessary arrangements are made. Quarters for such meetings can be secured through Secretary Turner, of Ruffalo. This feature of the encampment can be made very enjoyable by proper organization for holding the same. But it is imperatively necessary that all details be arranged at once. Only in this way can comrades from the West meet with their old army friends with certainty and without confusion. The headquarters of the New-York State Department will be on the first floor of Ellicott Square, in the spacious and commedious assembly-room, where commanders will immediately report, on their arrival, the number of men in their commandes from the same may be noted. All comrades of our State are requested to be present and register at these headquarters, in order that comrades from other States can easily find their friends in attendance from New-York."

"High Private." writing from Albany, says:

"High Private." writing from Albany, says: "Headquarters officials have settled down to business, and are hard at it. The new Council of Administration held its first meeting last week and carried out the wishes of the Department Encampment in accordance with the resolution: namely, ed the expenses of the department $1,000. The Council in its wisdom reduced the Assistant Adjutant-General's salary $200, did away with the additional clerk at $500 and reduced the allowances of the Judge Advocate, the Inspector and the Chief Mustering Officer. The Assistant Quartermaster-General's salary was not disturbed. Why? is a query for the Council to answer. The Assistant Adjutant-General, who is the hardest working of-Adjutant-teneral, and who has always to be there, gets less pay than the Assistant Quarter-master-General, who (if he follows in the footsteps about predecessors) will visit headquarters about once a month. Of course, he is under bonds and responsible for the funds of the department, and has to hire a clerk, which may have entered into the consideration when the question of reduction has to hire a clerk, which may have entered into the consideration when the question of reduction was discussed. But in spite of this the place of Assistant Quartermaster-General is a pretty good sinecure. Department Commander Shaw, alided by his elected and appointed staff, is making vigorous efforts to enthuse the comtades in this department for the Buffalo National Encampment, and to this end has addressed a circular letter to prominent contrades throughout the department, and also to his aides-de-camp urging them to organize by counties, and above all to secure quarters at the earliest possible moment and not wait until there are no accommodations to be had. Replies have already been received; one from Livingston County. The veterans there have organized and will have 425 contrades in line on the day of parade. Every county will be represented, and certainly New-York should turn out stronger in Buffalo in '9; than she did in '92 at Washington. Comrade H. E. Stamback, 'the Duke of Yorkshire,' mustered into the department on Saturday evening at Alden Eric County, N. Y., Post No. 49. The new post starts off with a membership of twenty-five charter members. Comrade Wilber, commander of the post at Onecota, N. Y., mustered in a post at Davenoort, Delaware County, this week with a charter membership of eighteen."

At the National Convention a revised co stitution and bylaws will be adopted and considerable business of great importance will be done. Among the vital questions will be that of defining more clearly the duties and rights of the senior officer, and the appointing of an executive staff whose duty it shall be to decide questions which hitherto have been handled according to the personal views of the senior officer. Not only are the pupils much in favor of it, but the teachers also. THE PROPOSED LABOR TEMPLE. George H. Warner, chairman of the Labor Temple Committee, talked further about the project at the meeting of the Central Labor Union yesterday, and the subject of permitting labor organizations not di rectly affiliated with the Central Labor Union to take part in building it was voted on. It was de-cided that circulars explaining how the committee proposed to erect the temple without money should be sent to all organizations, inviting them to co-

the committee, which insisted that the temple could be easily erected without money through the medium of a labor exchange which would issue scrip. He called attention to the labor exchanges which now exist in Denver and Kansas City, and read extracts from small journais which they print. In the copy of "The Labor Exchange Guld," of Denver, which Mr. Warner had, there was a list of more than three hundred merchants who were willing and were in the habit of taking the non-interest bearing scrip such as the exchange would issue here in payment for goods. Even lawyers and other professional men were willing to accept this scrip in payment for their services, and everything almost could be had of the merchants, even to second-hand clothing. Such an exchange was also in successful operation in Cincinnait. Mr. Warner declared that many people at first thought that the committee's scheme was visionary, and some had said that he was "nuity" on the subject and a fit candidate for Bloomingdale, but they were beginning to think differently. the committee, which insisted that the temple could

A BREAK IN SOCIALIST RANKS.

EXCITEMENT AT AN ALL-NIGHT MEETING-ONE One hundred and twenty delegates, said to repremeeting on Saturday night in the hall at No. 64 East Fourth-st, which did not break up until yesterday morning and they had an exciting time generally. The result was that Louis Miller, the eader of the Populist faction, was forcibly ejected from the hall and a serious split in the Socialist ranks caused thereby. While the meeting was going on it was declared that Daniel De Leon had polled 4.800 votes in the IXth Congress District in the last election, and that Tammany was now trying to get control of this vote. It was further declared that Tammany was being assisted in carry-ing out its scheme by certain of the Socialist lead-to be disciplined in consequence.

About midnight the debate got so heated that uozens of speakers were trying to talk at once. and the chairman broke his gavel trying to restore order. At the height of the excitement De Leon jumped upon a chair and charged that the offend-ing Miller had voted for Recorder Goff in 1894, and that in 1892 he had declared that the Populist party was the Socialist party of the United States. The din at this time was terrific, but above it all could be heard the voice of Miller, who shouted: "You be heard the voice of Miller, who shouted: "You are a liar! You are a liar!" Every man was on his feet and shouting as loud as his lungs would permit. Finally, by an overwhelming vote, the serveant-at-arms was instructed to remove Miller from the meeting. This proved no easy matter, as Miller fought and protested and his friends stood by him. His enemies might have desisted if Maria Brucckman, the leader of the Young Women Socialists, had not taken a hand at this juncture and shouted: "Put him out!" Put him out!"

him out?"
Miller was then put out, and he left vowing vengeance. It was admitted that the fight had caused a serious break in Socialists' ranks and that they would not be able to poll a unanimous vote in the coming election.

A collection of curious fishes was brought from Orinoco, which arrived here yesterday, by Dr. T. H Bean, superintendent of the Apparium, who accompanied an expedition of scientists to Bermuda to observe the conditions of animal and vegetable like in the Galf Stream. The fishes were caught in nets and brought here in cans and tanks. They were promptly taken to the Aquarium, and placed on exome. The fishes are as follows:

Four angel fishes, which are thin and flat, and swim on edge. They are from 6 to 10 inches long and swim on edge. They are from 6 to 16 inches long and from 5 to 6 inches wide. They are noted for their brilliant colors, which are changeable, and vary according to the light to which they are exposed. Their bodies are of an ashen hue, variegated with beautiful snades of orange and blue.

A surgeon, or doctor fish, so called because it has a small lance of a light, bony substance, which fits into a groove or depression in the side of the fish and has a socket or linge by means of which it may be laterally projected. The lance is supposed to be used as a weapon of defence. The fish, which is about 13 inches long, and similar to an angel lish in shape, is of a deep blue color along its back and the under part of its body.

Three Hamlet fishes, or groupers, so called because they swim in groups. These are from 18 to 24 inches long. They resemble the northern blackfish in shape, but have snarper noses. They have large mouths, and are exceedingly voracious, feeding upon other fish of smaller size. Their bodies are of an ashen hue, with dark brown stripes.

Ten hind fishes, which are similar in snape to the groupers. They are from 10 to 15 inches long, and are white, with brown and red spots.

One sergeant-major, or schoolmaster fish, about 6 inches long, with brown and telse stripes.

Two squirrel fishes, about 19 inches long, which are similar in color to gooldish, but have longer and narrower bodies. Their name is derived from the fact that they have large eyes, which resemble those of a squirrel.

There were 12,24 visitors at the Aquarium yesterday, and the how arrivals, especially the angel fishes, attracted much attention.

Trouble is said to be brewing between Oscar Hammerstein and Stevenson Constable, Superintendent of Buildings. The variance has reached so acute a stage that it is said Mr. Constable threatens to close up the Olympia Roof Garden unless certain structural alterations are immediately made. On his part, Mr. Hammerstein rejuses point binns to make the changes, and is reported to have defied Mr. Constable to compel him is inake them. It is asserted that Mr. Hammerstein is running his roof garden without a license. He made the necessary application and deposit for the permit last May, but the Mayor declines to issue the license until the Building Department certifies that the law in regard to fire-escapes and other defails of construction has been compiled with Mr. Constable refuses to grant the certificate certifies that the law in regard to decessages and other details of construction has been compiled with. Mr. constable refuses to grant the certificate until certain changes are made in the garden, and Mr. Hammerstein, whose fordness for dilgation is so well known, object to compaying with the demands of the department, for the reason, as he doclares, that his garden is perfectly safe and is nitted with all the pressuitions for the protection of visitors that the law insists upon. Hence the controversy

STAMPS STOLEN AT THE STATION.

vered at Postoffice Station J. No. 213 West Onehundred-and-twenty-fifth-st. As a result Robert Looney, superintendent of the station; W. J. Reynolds, a stamp clerk, and Frederick J. Taylor, who had charge of the money order department, have been suspended from duty pending an investiga-The postal officials seen yesterday manifested the greatest reticence regarding the matter, but it is understood that there is no charge against Su-perintendent Looney save lax business methods. suspension. Until the investigation, which is appointed for 10 o'clock this morning at the postoffice, is held, the facts underlying the allegation of robbery of stamps will not be known.

The One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st, station is one of the largest in the city, and is the centre of distribution for all the Harlem mails. One of the large force of clerks employed there is stated to have accidentally alighted upon the fraud, and to have sent notification of his discovery to Edward H. Morgan, the General Superintendent of City Delivery. A subsequent investigation by inspectors of the Postoffice led to the uncarthing of a clumsy plan for defrauding the Government of stamps.
The extent of the thefts is not more than $2^{\circ}$.

When seen yesterday at his home, No. 585 West
One-hundred-and-forty-sixth-st. Mr. Morgan said:
"I can say nothing about the matter at this stage,
While irregularities of some kind are suspected, the investigation by the postal authorities may show that they are not of a criminal nature." pointed for 10 o'clock this morning at the post-

MUSIC TEACHERS VISIT THE CHURCHES. The music teachers, who are holding their National Convention in this city, rested yesterday. Instead of spending the day in council and listening to papers on sundry musical themes, they visited the churches and temples, where special musical programmes had been arranged for their benefit. The churches in question were the Baptist Tabernacle, Third-ave, and Schermerhorn-st., Brooklyn, where they listened to a choir of two hunderd voices; Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, where the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott preached a special sermon on music; the First Presbyterian Church, Fifth-ave. and the First Presbyterian Church, Fifth-ave, and Twelfth-st., this city South Church, Madison-ave, and Thirty-eighth-st., where Dr. Smith, the organist, gave a rectial, St. Pau's, Broadway and Vesey-st., St. Michael's, Amsterdam-ave, and Ninety-ninth-st., Church of the Incaracion, Madison-ave, and Thirty-fifth-st., Church of the Intercession, One-hundred-and-fifty-eighth-st., and Western Boule-yard; St. Francis, Xavier's Church, West Sixteenth-st., near Sixth-ave, the Scouch Presbyterian Church, Ninety-sixth-st. and Cournel Park West, St. Mark's Church, Madison-ave, and Second-ave; St. Jame's Church, Madison-ave, and Seventy-first-st.

To-day the association will meet in joint session with the National Association of Elocutionists.
